
Bosnia-Hercegovina's four million people affected by terrifying flood

About a quarter of Bosnia-Hercegovina's four million people are without clean water after the worst flooding since modern records began,

Destruction was "terrifying" and compared it to Bosnia's 1992-95 war. flooding caused by unprecedented torrential rain victims are expected to be found as the waters recede. "The consequences of the floods are terrifying," The physical destruction is not less than the destruction caused by the war." He said more than 100,000 houses and other buildings were no longer usable and the road infrastructure was badly damaged.

Supporting affected by floods in BiH

500,000 people had been evacuated or left their homes. Rescue helicopters from the European Union, the US and Russia have helped evacuate people from affected areas. North-eastern Bosnia is especially badly affected, with houses, roads and rail lines submerged.
